

Through the Eyes of 2020

Same old covid, same old mask,
Some sanitizer on my new flask,
Walking around the street, maintaining my social distance,
Providing society my best type of assistance.

Teachers on zoom, in an empty classroom,
Students at home, searching answers on chrome,
Days turn into nights, and nights turn into days,
Same old covid, same old mask.

Walking through isolated hallways,
Keeping my grades up as always,
COVID isn't stopping me from being successful sooner,
I'm only trying to make what's best of my future.

Around the globe,
We got people to fight for,
Black, white, brown, tan,
Asian, Caucasian, African, American.

Time to create sturdy bridges of an ethnic mix,
For you, for me, and everybody,
We raise others up because we are all worthy,
It's a country made for equality.
