

Obstacles, the things that keep us apart,
Focus, this world needs to restart.
Diversity, adversity, let's stop the perversity.
It's time to work together and celebrate diversity.
It's a world where differences deserve celebration,
A hope of a future where each voice has a season.
It's a world where unity should be an inspiration,
Society's only choice with variety as the reason.
Everyone's unique, like the stars in the sky.
Standing side by side, this world will unify.
It's not what we're taught, no need to be distraught,
often when sought, it starts with one thought.
Face each hardship, it's time to revive,
Let each beautiful difference thrive and survive.
Build a bridge, it's time to work together
take the journey that would make things better.
Obstacles, the things that set us apart,
Focus, the world can make a restart.
Diversity, adversity, let's stop the perversity.
It's time to work together and celebrate diversity.
